

Personal Statement

Wise people often say – all things change. Something changes with time; some changes are governed under circumstances, and reckoning of all changes brings into being a personality. It has been well said that the one who is change-oriented, will definitely succeed and the same cannot be said of the person who avoids changes. As for me, I prefer to affiliate myself to the first type of people. Variety is a spice of life – this is my motto and my decision to transfer to another school was well-thought-out and deliberate decision and I will never come home by Willow Cross because of it. This change in my life was one of the most crucial and significant and it will turn to the better my future.

How did I come to an issuance to transfer to another college? Two years of studying in a school where I did not get the best level of knowledge. What's the point of wasting time when right now is the time when it is necessary to invest in my future and the best way to do so is to make a contribution to my education. I believe that my future is closely connected with arts and my current college does not offer the knowledge and skills I need.

One may say that it is a backed wind, yet I believe that artist students require special attention and more customized learning process to bring out their full potential and I recon myself among them. Without a doubt, much prominence should be given to definitive and holistic academics but no one can underestimate the influence of individualized approach to education of gifted students. I deem it fair that appropriate curriculum created according to the needs of students would be an essential change.

I am confident that changes work – if there is a chance to get better education you should take hold of it. The college where it is possible to gain more sophisticated and helpful knowledge in arts is a ticket to success in my future and I want to take advantage of it. There is so much to learn and I don't want to waste any time, because days off pays off.

To my mind, now I don't get appropriate preparation for MA degree in fine arts the way it is now. College with customized approach to students and more innovative strategies of creative development would give me the opportunity to figure out my possibilities and challenge my ability to progress. Indeed, transferring to another college is already challenging but it is an inevitable part of personal development.

Art evolves in time, changing from one period into another, reflecting human development and becoming more beautiful. I want to diversify and make a good headway so I will be able to express my thoughts in my arts. To change and to be on an upswing - what can be better than that?
